COOPERATION BY SECONDMENT TO THE INTERPOL GLOBAL COMPLEX FOR INNOVATION IN SINGAPORE

INTERPOL is seeking to set up cooperation agreements with public and private organizations, who may for one year second a member of their staff to the INTERPOL Global Complex for Innovation in Singapore, in the pursuit of enhancing global law enforcement cooperation against cybercrime.

Background

Cyber criminals continuously innovate to exploit the Internet to commit crimes. The sophisticated nature of cybercrime means that an efficient and effective policing response is dependent upon access to specialist services, information and skills from the private sector.

Complementing expertise

In recent years, INTERPOL has gained positive experience with placements from industry, which have proved to be a very effective resource in the delivery of supporting operational services to our 190 member countries. Seconded experts have shown a valuable depth of knowledge, and are placed in a unique collaboration environment where they are able to expand on each other's work. To complement this, INTERPOL is looking to welcome seconded experts from three key sectors.

Key sectors

INTERPOL is seeking to expand its relationships with the Internet Security Industry, Financial Industry, and Telecoms Sector. At this stage, those are the key sectors that, through their business models, have access to valuable perspectives on a global picture of cybercrime, by employing analysts who can leverage proprietary systems and datasets. Such experts may be seconded to INTERPOL for a year.

Framework

Seconding an expert to INTERPOL takes the shape of signing a Resource Assignment Agreement. In short, the expert stays on the company's payroll, but becomes part of the INTERPOL hierarchy and is held to its Confidentiality regime. The expert will be based in the INTERPOL Cyber Fusion Centre (CFC) which has been designed as a secure and neutral collaboration workspace for law enforcement and industry, to jointly develop cyber intelligence for the benefit of INTERPOL member countries.

Tasking

Please consider that INTERPOL is, by definition, a dynamic work environment. The expert's specific tasking will be agreed on three levels. First, a general scope may be proposed by both the seconding organization and INTERPOL. Second, after starting in Singapore, the expert will be trained and given specific tasks/deliverables, preferably on a project basis. Third, on a day-to-day basis there may be urgent or unexpected requests for information that the experts needs to address, possibly taking precedence over the regular workload.

Application

Kindly note that a Due Diligence evaluation will be part of the application process. If your company is interested in seconding a member of staff, please send an e-mail to CIOTeam@interpol.int with your company's contact details.
